THE BILL NOW IN CONGRESS RELATIVE TO THE ORDER'S INSIGNIA IS FOR ITS PROTEC-TION, HE DECLARES.

The following letter has been received by the Committee of the American Red Cross Relief Soclety from Washington:

Department of State.

Washington, May 25, 1898.

To the Honorable Levi P. Morton, the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, D.D., and others, American National Red Cross Relief Committee, No. 229.
Broadway, New-York.
Gentlemen: The President having referred to me for action the letter addressed to him by you as a special committee, to tender the services of your organization toward the relief of the sick and wounded in the course of the present war. I have the pleasure to advise you that, by the President's direction, I have communicated to the Secretaries of War and of the Navy copies of your letter, accompanied with an explanation of the international status of your organization, which has heretofore been, and is now recognized by this Government. Respectfully yours.

WILLIAM R. DAY Secretary of State. Respectfully yours, WILLIAM R. DAY, Secretary of State.

Inclosed in the envelope was a copy of the letter sent by the Secretary of State to the Secretary of War. It sets forth the names comprising the Committee of the American Red Cross, and the approval tion of the American Red Cross, as the sole central organization in the United States in affiliation with he International Committee of Berne, and through t with the Central Red Cross committees, which have been formed in every country which has adhered to the Geneva Convention of 1864. traces briefly the working of the organization to the present time. He says:

The American National Red Cross, incorporated under the laws of the United States for the District of Columbia, constitutes the property of the great International Committee of the Country of the great International Committee of the International Committee of the International Committee of Services, in time of tailoral suffering of home and association, of which the International Committee of Services, in time of tailoral suffering of home and of the country for the great international Committee of Services, in time of tailoral suffering of home and of the military and naval hospital service in time of war is now under consideration. Therefore the terms of the Military and naval hospital service of the International Red Cross. By the learns of the Geneva conventions, it may be powerfully of the Geneva conventions, it may be powerfully as the convention of 18th, the part of the Country of the Geneva conventions, it may be powerfully of the International Red Cross. to this individual employment of its agents in the field; it stands ready to co-operate in the equipment and supply of ambulances and medical stores, drawing for its resources on the benevalence of the community and systematizing effort and aid throughout the country by the various local committees it has organized.

According to the Geneva conference of 1853, which created the International Committee, each Central Committee is to enter into relation with the Government of its country, so that its services may be accepted if occasion should present itself. On being called upon, or with the assent of the military authorities, the respective central committee is to send volunteer nurses to the field of battle, there to be placed under the orders of the commanding officer, these articles sufficiently show the character of the aid to be rendered in time of war, by the wide-spread organization of which the International Committee of Berne is the head.

There is pending in Congress at the present time an act to legitimize the National status of the american Red Cross, and to protect its exclusive use of its insignia for the work it was organized to perform, and its early passage is expected. In deed, it would probably have become a law before now but for a need of a slight amendment, which this department has advised. The purpose of that act has the President's cordial approval.

In referring to me the annexed letter from the Special Committee of the American National Red Cross Relief Committee the President has requested me take such steps as may be necessary and effective to recognize the American National Red Cross as the proper and sole representative in the United States as the International Committee, and as such corresponding to the Conservation. So far as international correspondence with the International Red Cross as the only civil body in the United States which have been constituted in the American National Red Cross as those conferences held at Geneva.

RED CROSS WOMAN'S AUXILIARIES.

The Woman's Committee on Red Cross Auxillaries, presided over by Mrs. John Lyon Gardiner, at a meeting which convened at noon yesterday in the home of Mrs. Butler Duncan, at No. 1 Fifthava., authorized the formation of two additional auxiliaries, giving its sanction to the First Pennsylvania Red Cross Auxiliary No. 17, of Pittsburg. The new auxiliaries will be entered on the official restar, just so soon as the details are perfected as "Bardware Red Cross Auxiliary No. 18," with head-quarters in the home of Helen Dominick, No. 2 West Flity-first-st., and "Laundry Plant Red Cross Auxiliary No. 19," with headquarters in the home of Miss Alice Babcock, at No. 58 West Flity-sevanth-st.

The committee, it was said, discussed and considered various plans in connection with the furtherance of the work of the auxiliaries, but no definite action was taken in the matter of the competion of details, pending the approval of the officers of the American National Red Cross Rediller Committee, of which Bishop Potter is chairman.

SECRETARY DAY'S VIEW, at which arrangements were made for an entertalnment in aid of the Red Cross, to be held in the Fifth Avenue Theatre on June 9. The project origceeds are to be given to the First New-York Red Cross Ambulance Equipment Society, and it is hoped to raise enough money to equip one ambulance, or about $1,000. Mrs. Theodore Sutro was elected chairman at yesterday's meeting, and the offer of the manager of the Fifth Avenue Theatre to permit the use of the theatre for the entertainment on the afternoon of June 9 was accepted. A programme was also partially drawn. A short drama, entitled "For Cuba." written by Mrs. Rose, will be one of the features.

Mme. Viardi was to have given an entertainment last night at the Waldorf-Astoria, to assist the Ambulance Fund, but was unable to do so. She hus turned over $200 received from various sources for the intended entertainment, to the committee in charge of the entertainment on June 9.

GIRLS LISTENS TO ADDRESSES AND RE-

CEIVES DIPLOMAS. Much of the wealth and culture of New-York society was represented yesterday morning at Sherry's at the commencement exercises of the class of '98 of Miss Spence's School for Girls. The platform of the spacious hall was banked with roses, and here and there were huge bunches of daisies, harmonizing prettily with the soft white dresses of the "sweet girl graduates" and the white and gold colors of the school. The exercises were opened with the singing of the song, "Now Lovely Spring Her Flowers," by the school, followed by the invocation, which was offered by the Rev. Dr. David H. Greer. The school sang Roeckel's "Night," and then came the presentation of "honor pins" and the announcement by Miss C. B. Spence of the names of those re ing honorable mention. The girls were heartily applauded, and many fond parents smiled approval at the bright-faced pupils who blushed at the sound of their own names. After another song by the school, the address of the day was delivered the Rev. Dr. Anthony H. Evans. Dr. Evans said in part:

"I believe that the word 'commencement' for the close of a school term is one of the most appropriate ones that could be used, because the close of one's school life is really the commencement of the larger education. Education in itself has no value, and only in the greater outlook it gives of the world and its affairs is it worthy of the name. Ignorance makes one's life circumscribed and narrow; education shows one a great country stretching out grand and beautiful—the one keeps the eyes down, the other lifts them up. The Mount Vernon Bureau of Charities, which does an inestimable amount of good throughout the city, and which has recently been settled in its city, and which has recently over settled in his new home in Ninth-ave, is preparing for two entertainments. The first of these will be a play entitled "The Masked Ball," and it will be given in the Mount Vernon Opera House this evening and to-morrow. The other will be in June. It will be an elaborate lawn party, held on the grounds of the Bureau of Charities.

Cuban and American physicians enlisted in the work of the Red Cross will hold a meeting in the Red Cross Hospital, No. 221 West One-hundredth-st, this afternoon, to discuss plans for the treat-ment of patients.

Association of Syracuse will take place to-day. CALL FROM AUXILIARY NO. 5. The Metcalf Bliss Cot Equipment, of the Nac tional Red Cross Relief Committee, known as Auxillary No. 5, has been authorized to collect funds for a thorough field and hospital cot equipment. The cota are of the first importance in giving immediate and proper care to the wounded. The Red Cross, in offering its aid to the Government of the United States, declared itself to be insufficiently provided with many necessaries for war service. Beds, which were needed, were promised by the Auxillary No. 5. The cost of each sot is 10, and cortributions for these are earnessly requested. The treasurer of the Auxillary, Mrs. Chester Griswold, No. 23 West Forty-eighth-st., will be glad to receive any domations.

Other officers of the Executive Committee are: Mrs. W. Metcalf Bliss, president; Mrs. Livingstone Ludlow and Mrs. Benjamin Welles, first and second vice-presidents, and Mrs. I Joakey Rhinelander, secretary. To-morrow, when the sulphurous glow Of war shall dim the stars above. He sure the star of England's love Is over you, come weal, come woe.

Go forth in hope. Go forth in might! To all your nobler self be true, That coming times may see in you. The vanguard of the hosts of light.

Though wrathful Justice load and train Your guns, be every breach they make A gateway pierced for mercy's sake, That Peace may enter in and reign.

Then, should the hosts of darkness band Against you, lowering thunderously, Flash the word "Brother!" o'er the sea, And England at your side shall stand. Exulting! For though dark the night,
And sinister with send and rack.
The hour that brings us back to back
But harbingers the larger light.

AT A WASHINGTON LUNCHEON.

Chamberlain and his wife, on the occasion of his visit to Washington in 1887, as chairman of the Fisheries Commission, has lately been recalled by a writer in "The Haltimore Sun." in connection with his recent speech advocating an alliance be-tween Great Britain and the United States.

"He was the social lion of the hour then," says the story, "a big, burly man, caring so little for his appearance that at one of the most fashionable dinners of the season his cravat got turned to almost under his ear, and his shirt stud came un-dinners of the sar, and his shirt stud came unfastened, and he sat calmly oblivious to either accident. His brain and charm in conversation won him friends wherever he went.

"One day he called on a woman friend who happened to be giving a grist luncheon. She went out at once to see him, and laughtarly said if he did not mind being the only man present she would be delighted if he would come into the dining-room and take the vacant place of one of her young friends who had not come. He was not afraid to face a lot of 'American beauties,' so he accepted gayly, and the vacant place happened to be next that of Miss Endicott, daughter of Secretary of War William C. Endicott, of Massachusetts, a dovelike, slender girl, one of the greatest belies of the day. The outcome of this was the marriage of the English statesman and the Puritan maid,' as she was often called, his neighbor at an entertainment to which he had only been bidden by that fate 'which shapes our ends, rough-hew them as we will."

WOMEN INVENTORS.

Among many useful appliances invented by women are an attachment to the machinery of looms in mills, made by the grandmother of Clara Louise Kellogg, and a device for deadening the sound of railway trains, the work of another woman of the country of the country

The number of women who each year take out patents is constantly increasing. From 1790 to 1809. patents is constantly increasing. From 1736 to 1869 there was not a single patent granted to a woman, but from January to December since 1892 over three hundred patents have been annually granted to women. The inventive genius of the feminine mind is shown by the wide range of articles upon which patent rights have been granted to them. They stretch from improved lathy-carriages to machines for making straw braid, and from needle-threading devices to pertable field hospitals for army use. One favorite device, and one at which there have been as many attempts at improvement as any, is a scheme whereby the mother can enjoy all the pleasures of the wheel and at the same time not neglect the baby. The material imagination seems to run riot with centrivances to combine the bicycle with a peramoulator, and all sorts of schemes have been devised with that end in view.

RIGHTS OF THE MARRIED WOMAN. A decision of the Supreme Court of Indiana in the case of William E. Heal against the Niagara Oil Company establishes the precedent in that Company establishes the precedent in that State that a married woman can lease her land for the purpose of prospecting for oil so as to give the lessee the exclusive right to drill wells for that purpose without her husband joining in the lease.

The Court says that a lease of this character, as far as it conveys such a right for a short time, grants only a temporary use of the land, but intimates that the oil company right to hold the land for the purpose of taking oil out of the wells it might drill would be doubtful.

HAVE NOT ONLY SKILL AND GRACE, BUT GREAT PHYSICAL ENDURANCE "I never feel the least bit uneasy when I leave my case in the hands of one of these Indian nurses," was the tribute just paid by a leading physician of Philadelphia to the young Indian women who have entered the field of trained nursing.

While the public, as a general rule, would hardly stop to consider that the profession of trained nurs-ing, requiring all the delicate attributes of woman-hood, would be adapted to the daughters of wild and savage ancestry, the fact remains that Onelda, Ottawa, Wyandotte and even Sloux girls, educated Captain R. dotte Indian, who was educated at Carlisle, is one of the most successful professional nurses. During the epidemic at Carlisle, in 189 and 1891, she volunteered her services as a nurse, and succeeded so well that, acting upon the advice of physicians, she entered the Woman's Hospital, at Philadelphia Her services are easerly sought by many of the leading families of that city.

Including Miss Nancy Seneca, who will soon complete her course, eight indian girls, who first graduated at Carlisle achool, have, during the last few years, become trained nurses, and are now profitably employed in independent practice.

The first Indian woman in the world to complete a course in trained nursing was Miss Nancy Cornelius, an Oncida. She arrived at the Carlisle school from the reservation in 1805, and entered the second grade. Ising of a delicate constitution, she was obliged to pass much of her time in the school hospital for treatment, and, destring some occupation, she soon became a competent assistant to the nurse in charge. In October, 1888, Miss Cornelius left Carlisle, and went to the training-school for nurses at Hartford, Conn., where she graduated two years later. Since then she has lived in Hartford, Commenting on Indian women as trained nurses, a physician who had had much experience with them in his practice, said "Indian girls seem to possess every requisite to make an ideal trained nurse. They are remarkably intelligent, and have herve and great courage; they never become flurried or excited, but keep their heads perfectly at the most trying and critical moments. They also, as a rule, possess considerable physical strength and great endurance; withat they are kind and attentive, and follow out the doctor's directions to the letter."

The temper of the elements remained unchanged yesterday, although the manifestation of ill-humor took the form of rain instead of Wednesday's fog and mist. It rained heavily nearly all day, and a high wind added to the out-of-door discomfort. The season of wretched weather recalls the prolonged scaking this city received last summer for severa

One circumstance that ought to mitigate the regret of friends of the volunteers who recently went to the front is the fact that the weather at Chickamauga and Falls Church can hardly fall to be better than that prevailing at present at Camp Black and Camp Townsend. A LIGHT AFTERNOON CONCERT AND A MORE SERIOUS PROGRAMME IN THE EVENING.

Cincinnati May 26.-The second day of the May Musical Festival was marked by two concerts. At the matinee a light programme was given, introducing Mrs. Corinne Moore Lawsen, Mrs. Josephine S. Jacoby and Ben Davies, soloists, and giving to the orchestra a Mozart symphony, Beethoven's "Corlolanus" overture and Weber's "Invitation to the Dance." The applause told of the keen enjoyment of all the selections.

Last night a more serious programme was pre-sented, including for chorus, orchestra and organ sented, including for chorus, orchestra and organ a chorale by Bach; for the orchestra Brahms's Symphony No. 2 and Dvorak's overture, "Nature"; for Miss MacIntyre arias by Weber and Wagner, and closing with the scenes from "Olaf Trygvason," by Grieg, for chorus, orchestra, and solo voices taken by Miss Stein, Mrs. Lawson and Mr. Baernstein. The audiences both day and night gave abundant evidence of satisfaction with the results. The chorus is conceded to be doing better work than for many years, and the promise is for a successful festival.

FOR A UNIFORM MARRIAGE LAW.

THE LEGAL AID SOCIETY APPOINTS A COMMIT-MITTEE TO INVESTIGATE POINTS OF DIF-

FERENCE AND THE ADVISABIL-

ITY OF TAKING ACTION. At a meeting of the directors of the Legal Aid Society at Mr. Von Briesen's office yesterday after-noon it was decided to appoint a committee of three lawyers to look into the marriage laws of the country and report as to their non-uniformity and as to whether an effort tending to make the laws regarding divorce identical throughout the coun-try would be desirable. Numbers of the cases which come constantly before the society's attor-ney for relief and redress grow out of domestic difficulties to be traced directly to the lapses and contrariety of the various statutes on this subject.

The committee will make exhaustive research into the possibilities and limitations regarding any into the possibilities and limitations regarding any section in such an important question, and will section in such an important question it the feath will be held in September.
